OBITUARY

Obituary, March 31.—Mr. and Mrs. George Lounsbury of Washingtonville, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terpenning since Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Lela Mott and two daughters, Mrs. William J. McLean, Mrs. Hasbrouck, Fred and daughter, Eleanor were visitors in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday. The latter spent part of the day with her mother, Mrs. Frank Mott.

Mrs. Edward Duffy of Kingston was a recent guest of Mrs. Margaret Geoghegan.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith entertained Rev. J. J. Lyons and family also Mrs. Amy Sheeley on Tuesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Martin all of Bullville, Orange county, were recent callers at the home of Rev. M. Roberts. They were motoring to Albany where Mr. Jones, as federal food commissioner, was due at a meeting to be held that evening.

Friends of Mrs. Charles Martin will be pleased to learn that under the care of a Poughkeepsie physician she has greatly improved in health during the past few weeks. All hope she will continue to gain until recovery is complete.

It is feared that the severe storm Friday will damage the peach orchards in the vicinity. Its effect is also visible upon the rose bushes and plants which had developed good sized leaves. A tree in the yard of the writer has her blossom buds just started and whether they will be brave to fully develop remains to be seen. The birds must have thought were badly used after coming away from the sunny south to suffer such weather. On Saturday a dejected looking pheasant was sitting upon a bare twig looking for some insect to eat. After a long search he started to the ground picked up a worm and vainly swallowed it. Then apparently this little member of the family flew away and we hope later he found a meal to his liking.

Mrs. Fred Freer is confined to her home with a severe attack of neuritis in her right shoulder. Although somewhat better than she was two weeks ago the arm is still helpless.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, March 31.—Harry Finch and family of Broad Street Hollow, have moved in the tenement house of Happy Brothers, where he is employed.

Mrs. F. B. Stone is entertaining guests.

Rev. Mr. Van Demeer and Leslie Wyn took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Ethen on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Short motored to Kingston on Thursday.

A severe wind storm passed over this vicinity on Friday and Saturday, but all are glad to know that scarcely any damage was done.

The W. W. Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Sherman Short on Wednesday afternoon, April 2.

All are glad to learn that Mrs. Everard Short has been removed from the hospital and is now visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Stone, of Kingston.

B. Happy made a business trip to Kingston Thursday.

Mrs. S. L. Short entertained several at a quilting at her home on Tuesday last.

Rev. Mr. Van Demeer preached a very interesting sermon to an appreciative audience on Sunday.

Remember the Bible class on Wednesday evening. This will be the final class before conference and all are urged to attend.

Gladys Short of Woodstock spent Saturday night at her parents.

There will be preaching services in the M. E. Church on Sunday, April 6, at 2 p. m. A full attendance is desired.

Lloyd Van Ethen, who is attending business college at Kingston, spent a week end with his parents here.

ST. RENE.

St. Rene, March 31.—The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Lewis Van Ethen on Thursday afternoon, April 3.

The leader of the C. E. next Sunday night will be Mrs. David Ackerson. Topic, "Our Relation to God." Mark 11:19-26. Conference speaking.

The blizzard on Thursday and Friday seemed to be a surprise to a great many as the weather was so warm many were sowing seeds and clearing up in general.

John Krom was in this place last looking after his insurance.

Schuyler Dean returned from New York to his place at Kingston.

The Stroller Hears You Can't Always Tell How Much It Costs to Support a Family—Kingston "Does Herself Proud."

"Well, Kingston has certainly done herself proud today," remarked the customer as he entered the barbershop this morning to secure a shave before taking part in the afternoon parade.

"We are doing no more than the boys deserve," replied the barber as he busily plied the razor. "and I for one say you can't do too much for the boys in service."

"That's right," agreed the customer, "and that is why I want a clean face to parade in."

"It has always struck me as funny," said the barber, following a pause, "as to the amount of money these government experts say it needs to support a family."

"How is that?" asked the customer.

"If you notice," explained the barber, "the men chosen as experts are the ones who generally draw down a big salary, and it seems to me they figure on that basis in making up their estimates."

"In what way?" queried the customer.

"They don't seem to take into consideration the fact that the average wage received is about $15 a week," replied the barber.

"I know a lot of men who draw down more than that," interrupted the customer.

"I don't doubt it," replied the barber tartly, "but if you average it all up you will find it don't exceed $15 by a great deal. Now you know and I know lots of families where the head of the house has only been drawing down from $12 to $15 a week, and by gosh they have raised quite a big family on it too."

"They don't live, they just exist," retorted the customer.

"Oh, I don't know," said the barber, "some of them manage to get a good time out of life. It don't always take a big pile of dough to enjoy life."

"Maybe not—if you have good health," added the customer.

W. C. T. U. JUBILEE CAMPAIGN OPENS

Mrs. Livingston, Judge Fowler and other speakers at Monday's gathering at St. James's—$1,330 pledged toward World Prohibition.

A large and enthusiastic audience gathered in St. James's M. E. Church on Monday afternoon to meet and hear Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston, of the National W. C. T. U.

The meeting was opened with singing and Scripture reading by Rev. P. N. Chase, Ph.D., and prayer by Rev. W. R. Miller.

A solo, "Gideon and His Band," was rendered with telling effect by Mr. Miller.

Mrs. Martha Hallock Bell, president of Ulster County W. C. T. U., introduced Judge Fowler, who said he esteemed it an honor to be invited to speak at a W. C. T. U. meeting and congratulated the women on attaining their goal and pointed out the need of maintaining their gain by the same consistent effort.

Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston was then introduced and gave a review of the work accomplished by the National W. C. T. U. during the last 45 years and their part in securing the national prohibition amendment. Their slogan has been: "Agitate! Educate! Legislate!" It was through this effort reaching out to public schools, women's organizations and the church societies that a temperance sentiment throughout the nation had been aroused, which had made a foundation on which many other organizations had built up the work which finally won its place through out-halls of legislation into the constitution of the United States.

Mrs. Livingston outlined the jubilee campaign plans, emphasizing the fact that the W. C. T. U. is the only organization so formed that its program for world prohibition can be immediately carried on in 37 foreign countries where already the W. C. T. U. has a national organization.

The appeal for funds received an enthusiastic response. Several unions throughout the county pledged their quota. Wallkill, New Paltz, Kingston, Stone Ridge, Cottekill, Ulster Park and Marlborough pledged their quotas amounting to $1,218, and the following contributions were received from interested people in the county who were unable to be present: The Schulte Grape Juice Co. of Highland, $100; Miss Grace Van B. Roberts, Highland, president of Ulster County Woman Suffrage Association, $5; Henry McCormick, master of Pomona Grange, $3, making in all a grand total of $1,330.

At the close of Mrs. Livingston's address, which was received with intense interest, showing itself in such gratifying results, Mrs. Wood sang most beautifully and effectively a very fine solo.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Livingston and the W. C. T. U. members are enthusiastic about not only raising their quota of the one million jubilee fund, but are bound to "go over the top."

When Did the Civil War End?

Ask anybody the date of the Civil war's end. The answer will invariably be: "April 1865." But, in a literal sense, that answer is all wrong.

The Supreme Court declared that the Civil war came to an end "at the period designated in the proclamation of the President of the United States."

That proclamation was dated April 2, 1865. Thus, the Civil war came to a formal conclusion on that date, not in April 1865.

"Up to and before that date" (April 2, 1865), says Secretary of State Bayard's decision, "the insurrection in those (the Confederate) states was held to exist. After that date it was held to be at an end."

WEST ESOPUS.

West Esopus, April 1.—William Bowne, who has been honorably discharged from the U.S. Navy and been aboard Mine Layer U. S. Canonicus, operating in the North Sea, is again at his home on Spring Glen Farm.

Mrs. Fred Rosener, who has been very ill, is slowly improving.

Lieut. C. C. Wheeler spent the week end with his family here.

Mrs. Alton Davis is in Poughkeepsie visiting her aunt, Miss Humstone.

We are all glad to have Walter Blocker with us again, who has also been in service in France.

The Predicament.

Teddy had the usual nine o'clock sickness and did not have to go to school as a result. But at ten o'clock he found that he had recovered, and after dressing sought his mother in the kitchen. "I'm well, mother," he announced. "But I can't go to school till noon. You see it's too late now just to be counted tardy and too early to be counted absent."

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

JAMES D. HERIOT, Corporal, Company I, 119th Infantry.

Corp. Heriot, who lived near Providence, S. C., was decorated for conspicuous bravery, resulting in his death, at Vaux-andigny, France, October 12, 1918.

Corp. Heriot, with four other soldiers, organized a combat group, and attacked an enemy machine gun nest which had been inflicting heavy casualties on his company. In the advance two of his men were killed, and because of heavy fire from all sides, the remaining two sought shelter. Unmindful of the hazard attached to his mission, Corp. Heriot, with fixed bayonet, alone charged the machine gun, making his way through the fire for a distance of thirty yards, and forcing the enemy to surrender. During this exploit he received several wounds in the arm, and later in the same day, while charging another nest, he was killed.

Cure Bent Backs by Suggestion.

Suggestion plays a great part in the cure of physical ills of soldiers. According to Lieut. Col. A. F. Hurst, all men suffering from bent backs can be cured by persuasion and re-education.

The patient is told that his posture is a bad habit formed when his back was painful. He is asked to stand with his back to a wall, with his heels touching it. His shoulders are then gently pushed back till they touch the wall.

In most instances the soldier finds that in a few minutes he can stand erect without support, and after walking a few times in the same posture his cure is complete.

Lawyer's Humor.

Mr. Hohenzollern says he prefers not to think of his exit from Germany as a "flight." While we would like to agree with William, we cannot help thinking of a phrase that occurs in real estate leases. When a tenant is thrown out for not paying his rent or for abusing the premises the lawyers call it "an amicable action in ejectment."—Collier's Weekly.

TO THOSE WHO LOVE LOGIC

The following points are of vital interest to the people of this nation, and will be discussed in greater detail in separate advertisements appearing in this paper at intervals until the start of the Victory Liberty Loan:

1. This nation--your country and mine--has an unpaid balance of some billions of dollars of war debt--for a Victory that we are now enjoying.
2. The nation must pay this debt--if it is to continue to exist as a nation among the nations of the world.
3. There are only two ways that the nation can secure the money--by the sale of bonds (or notes) and by taxes.
4. Taxes are already high and yet insufficient to meet our outstanding war obligations.
5. Therefore notes (or bonds) must be sold.
6. Again, there are only two ways that several billions of dollars of notes (or bonds) can be sold--to the banks or to the people.
7. If they are placed with the banks, industry, commerce, your business will suffer. The banks would be unable to purchase several billion dollars of Liberty Bonds and continue to loan money in sufficient quantities and at a fair rate to the business man. You cannot have your pudding and eat it, too.
8. It is, therefore, your business and my business to prepare for the Victory Liberty Loan, that we may then invest as largely as each of us individually can--for America's welfare and for our own.

Soldiers of Ulster.

(By Rev. T. H. Baragwanath)

Soldiers of Ulster, welcome home!
Thrice welcome to your native land!
We all with joy would clasp your hand
And greet you now with "Welcome home!"
You are sons of the Empire State,
Sons in whom we take delight,
For you sallied forth to fight
Without fear, though you know your fate
Might be those who are call'd to die
For freedom and the world's advance,
For Belgium and embattled France—
To sleep beneath an alien sky

The tides of battle ebb'd and flow'd,
Flow'd and ebb'd like a changing sea;
The call to charge you hailed with glee;
Bright the smile when you took the road.

There at the front you fought like knights,
Knights who bore a cross on their shield;
Ever we knew you would not yield—
You struck for humanity's rights.

There you broke the Hindenburg Line,
And there by your courage and valor
You preserved America's honor,
Like burning suns your deeds will shine.

Side by side with your great Allies,
There with bayonet, grenade and gun
You faced and quell'd the treacherous Hun,
Raising the cry, "He lies!" "He lies!"

Keen, so keen, our sorrow and deep,
For in your ranks we see the gaps;
But oh, the splendor that enwraps
The brave who have fallen asleep.

With gratitude, honor and praise
Your country greets you today,
Eager a mighty debt to pay,
May peace and joy fill all your days.

Soldiers of Ulster, welcome home!
Welcome back from a foreign shore
To our land we all adore,
From which you never more may roam.

The KITCHEN
CABINET

Our life is composed of a thousand springs.
And dies, if one be gone;
Strange that a harp of a thousand strings
Should keep in tune so long.

WHOLESALE DISHES.

For a new dish and one of good flavor
the following will be worth trying:
Boiled Calves'
Tongues. — Cover
four fresh tongues
with boiling water.
Add five slices of celery, one slice onion stuck with six cloves; 15 peppercorns and one-half a tablespoonful of salt; cook until tender. Take from the water, remove the skin and roots and cut in halves lengthwise. Cook one-half can of tomatoes with two cupfuls of brown stock until reduced one-half. Reheat tongues in sauce.
Garnish with parsley, lemon slices and points of bread sautéed in butter.

Meat Sauces.—Pick over one-half cupful of lima beans and soak in cold water to cover. Drain and cook in boiling salted water until soft; then force through a sieve. There should be three-fourths of a cupful of pulp.
Add one-third of a cupful of dried crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of heavy cream or butter, a few grains of pepper, salt to taste, one-half teaspoonful of sage and one egg beaten slightly.
Shape in the form of sausages, dip in egg crumbs and fry in olive oil. Drain, arrange on a serving dish and garnish with fried apple rings.

Italian Canapes.—Cut stale bread in one-third-inch slices and remove the crusts. Cut in finger-shaped pieces and toast on one side. Mix one cupful of grated cheese (Parmesan), two-thirds cupful of heavy cream and two tablespoonfuls of fruit juice; season well with salt and pepper. Spread the untoasted side of bread with the mixture, arrange in a pan and bake in a hot oven six minutes. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve at once on small hot plates.

Escalloped Potatoes.—Wash, pare and cut four medium-sized potatoes in one-fourth-inch slices. Put a layer in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour and dot with one tablespoonful of butter; repeat. Add hot milk until it sees through the top layer. Bake one and one-fourth hours or until the potatoes are soft.

Showed Greatness in Youth.

At the age of 14, and when a sophomore at Cambridge, Francis Bacon left the university in disgust, declaring that the whole system of education was radically wrong at Cambridge and everywhere else. And Bacon lived to prove that he was conservatively right in his contention. Swift despised his teachers because he knew more than they did, and therefore had difficulty in securing a degree.

BITTER FEELING IN CHICAGO ELECTIONS

Thompson Expected to Make Close Race For Mayorality—May Close Saloons May 1—Record Vote Expected.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, April 1.—Clear, snappy weather today, following the winning up in several near riots last night of the most bitter and stubbornly fought political campaign in the history of the city, started Chicagoans to the polling places early today to elect a mayor, board of aldermen, a city treasurer, and to vote on several municipal bond issues and the closing of the saloons on May 1 instead of July 1.

Political observers predict a record breaking vote of at least 700,000 or ninety per cent of those registered. Mayor William Hale Thompson, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, and McClay Hoyne, independent candidate, are expected to furnish a close finish in the mayorality race.

Thompson, attacked during the campaign for alleged pro-German utterances previous to the entry of the United States in the mayor's favored in betting "within the loop."

Hoyne supporters are confident of success, however, and are relying to a great extent on the woman vote which in the primaries favored Hoyne.

The Democratic vote is believed to have been split. John Fitzpatrick, labor candidate, is expected to draw heavily on the Democratic voters "reducing to a minimum the chances" of Robert M. Switzer, Democratic candidate.

John Collins, Socialist candidate, will poll a "surprisingly large vote," Socialist supporters say. Prohibitionists, while they have not put up much of a preliminary fight are confident the voters will vote to close the saloons on May 1.

LAKE KATRINE

Lake Katrine, April 1.—Mrs. Relyea of Mt. Marion spent the day with her sister, Mrs. M. Wolven, recently, Ward Bell has just purchased a Mitchell car.

Miss Mary Bruyn, Sam Smith and John Schoonmaker of Kingston spent the evening at Lindenwood Farm on Tuesday.

Mrs. David Kieffer has been quite ill, but is better at this writing.

Mrs. Harry Davis and children, Elizabeth and Merton, spent a few days with her sister, Miss Anna Snyder, and called on some of her former friends in this place.

Donald Parish has just finished overhauling Brink Brothers' Overland and getting it in condition for the summer.

A small company of the following people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hookey to plan a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halliday, who are leaving Lake Katrine, Supervisor and Mrs. Frank Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Houghtaling, Miss Alida Gallagher, Miss Jessie and Florence Bogart, Miss Mildred and Muriel Keough, Miss Anna Snyder, A. Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Parish and Westley Wesley Parish, Miss Keough and Mr. Houghtaling formed the greater part of the evening's enjoyment, and Mrs. Halliday, who is a gifted elocutionist, gave two selections, after which a buffet luncheon was served. The guests were unanimous in their praise of Mr. and Mrs. Hookey as entertainers and all joined in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Halliday success and prosperity in their new home.

WEST PARK.

West Park, April 1.—In Ascension Church next Sunday, April 6, there will be the celebration of the Holy Communion with sermon at 11 a. m. and evening service with sermon at 7:15. The usual Lenten service in Epiphany will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Morris on Friday, April 4, at three o'clock.

There will be a special meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Ackert on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. The articles bought or contributed for the missionary box will be on hand for inspection and a full attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schleich spent Sunday at their Hill Slope Cottage and had Miss Helen Smith as their dinner guest.

Adam Forepaugh Dead.

Adam Forepaugh, the circus man who died in Philadelphia, Sunday, will be remembered by old time circus goers who saw him ride for in the circus around a circus ring on Field Court in the 70's. He was known as Addie Forepaugh and his father owned the circus.

Staying Sober For Parade.

The police force did not find it necessary to make a single arrest during the night and there were no cases in police court this morning. It was evident that every one was keeping out of trouble so as to give our boys a proper welcome home this afternoon.

8,000 OF 27TH MEN GET RELEASE

Other Cities Up-State Holding Parades Today—Men Carry Rifles and Skeleton Packs—Honorably Discharge, Bonus and Railroad Fare.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Camp Upton, April 1.—Three thousand Twenty-seventh Division men received honorable discharges at Camp Upton Monday and left for their homes. Three special trains carried 1,300 to Buffalo and another special, consisting of tourist sleepers, went to Rochester. In both cities parades will be held today. The organizations mustered out were the 108th Infantry and 106th Field Artillery. Men from practically every organization, in the division also went out, under the special dispensation calling for discharge of all up-state troops the same day. The men carried their rifles and skeleton packs for the parade. A revised schedule calls for the discharge of the 102d Field Signal Battalion Thursday instead of today.

Monday afternoon the columns of men began marching from their barracks to the camp quartermaster, where they received final pay and the $50 bonus. Railroad fare also is given them, and from the paymaster's office they marched in charge of non-commissioned officers to the railroad terminal and received railroad tickets. With the tickets there is the coveted honorable discharge.

Today the personnel office will pass 5,000 men. Officers in many cases are receiving their release from service at the same time as the men.

Pictures of the Twenty-seventh parade in New York were shown last night at one of the camp theaters. The men hiked when a picture of Mayor Hylan and Hearst were flashed on the screen.

NEW THEATER TAX

Along With Others, Goes Into Effect Today.

The new theater tax went into effect today, April 1, but the only increase occurs in the impost on children's tickets and the country is expected to remain quiet. Instead of a 1 per cent tax for youngsters they will be promoted to the full 10 per cent rank of their parents. All motion picture houses must also collect a tax on the same basis as the legitimate theaters; that is, 1 cent on every 10; but this applies also to the five cent cinema palaces, managers of the latter are reported to be worried about getting that half cent, unless they accept farthings.

SEAGER.

Seager, April 1.—T. O. Gavett, mother and guest of Plainfield, N. J., made a business trip here Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel and Mr. Drexel's brother, Armstrong, arrived at Eagle Lodge last week. They are snowbound for the present.

A hurricane struck this place last Friday morning and lasted until Saturday night. The roads were blocked all day Saturday.

The mail was unable to leave Seager post office Saturday on account of the drifted roads.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fairbairn and Miss Hazel Fairbairn are still employed at Eagle Lodge.

No services have been held in the Dry Brook Methodist Church for the last two Sundays owing to the sickness in and about the place.

Marshall Stewart has returned home after a week's visit near Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. G. Richard Avery was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong Saturday and Sunday, owing to the absence of her husband who is caring for his brother and family. Henry Whipple and Mrs. Frank George are still very ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Ed. Avery and son of Berry Brook are spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Avery.

Issued All Three Kinds.

At the city hall this morning City Clerk Foreman issued a marriage license followed by the issuing of a dog license, while downstairs in police headquarters the police were busy issuing licenses to the street vendors, of which there were many in the city today.

Maxwell—a car improved each day

THERE is nothing like doing one thing year after year because it always results in doing the thing well.

This is the underlying thought in every Maxwell.

It is why 300,000 Maxwells have been built on the original chassis plan. Each day this car grows better. Each day it is improved somewhere.

There never has been a radical change in design. There never has been a departure from the original idea.

Still there have been more than 1000 improvements in this car since the first one was built.

Every time a chance was seen to make it better the improvement was made.

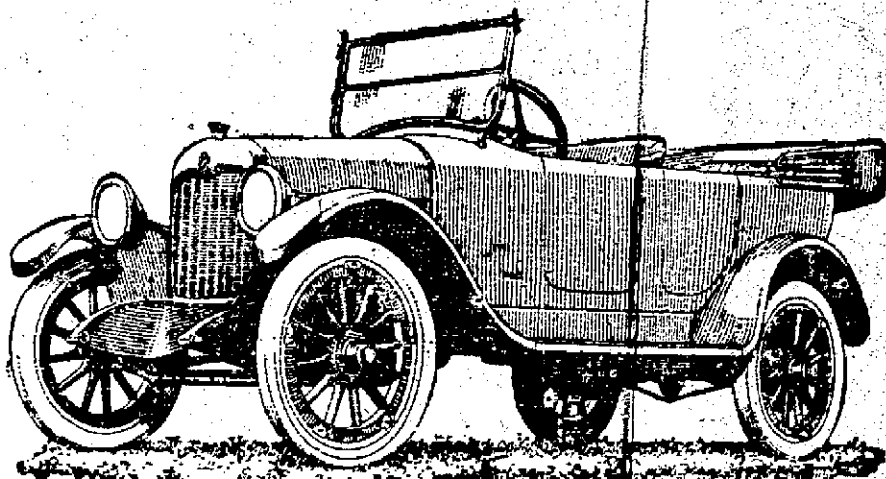

That's why a Maxwell runs on and on in almost endless mileage; why it grows better as it grows older; why it stands the moods of the careless driver.

No one has ever criticized the Maxwell on the grounds of reliability.

No one can criticize it on the grounds of good looks.

For there have been 24 recent improvements in its appearance.

See the Maxwell today and then get your check book ready.

ANARCHIST ROUND-UP.

Pittsburgh Going After Radical Foreigners.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, April 1.—Ten alleged anarchists, caught in a round-up in this district by state and city police, were waiting hearings today. The men are Russians and Ukrainians.

A mass of Russian Bolshevik and other anarchist literature as well as a great quantity of I. W. W. propaganda, was seized. Government agents said that evidence was uncovered that proved conclusively that the I. W. W. was recruiting members here from among the Russian anarchists.

The arrests were made on the eve of a great street parade planned for one of the industrial towns in this district.

Copenhagen, April 1.—The Ukrainians have defeated the Russian Bolsheviks at Porechanka and are moving on Kiev (the Ukrainian capital), according to an official Ukrainian statement received here today.

It has been rumored that a truce between the Ukrainians and the Russian Bolsheviks was pending.

Hearing at Albany Tomorrow.

So far from opening the state to the flood of dock, the commission believes that still further safeguards should be taken about the dock by getting the killing of the dock only and in shutting the dock through cutting out the first two weeks in October. At the annual meeting of the New York State Fish, Game and Forest League held in Albany last December, when representatives of various New York state institutions were in attendance, a resolution was passed favoring an amendment of the present law to the taking of one dock per harbor and of one.

PLAYED HIS GAME

Bolshevik Easily Fooled by American Business Man.

Revolutionists Unable to See That They Were Being Led On When All Their Extravagant Demands Were Accorded To.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler tells a story about how an American business man solved the bolshevik problem in Petrograd, at least as it applied to his affairs. The Columbia university president says he has it directly from the American concerned. Here it is:

"An American, head of a large firm in Petrograd, branch of an American business house, was sitting in his office pondering on how he could close up the business and discharge his Russian employees without causing trouble. The revolution had precluded all chance of doing more business."

"As he was thinking over this problem the door opened and three of the employees entered."

"We have decided," said the spokesman, "to apply the soviet principle to this business."

"All right," said the manager, "that seems to be the custom here. What do you want me to do?"

"First, we want you to double our wages."

"All right. Everybody would like double wages."

"Then we want a month instead of two weeks' vacation a year."

"That's fine; I myself like a month's vacation."

"And for the month's vacation we want the pay double again."

"Now, I never thought of that. But now that I do it's true that on a vacation it is nice to have a lot of money. Well, do that, too."

"Now that those things are decided we must tell you that we won't need you as manager any more."

"I certainly never thought of that. But I am responsible to the stockholders in the United States. This will never do."

"We thought of that, too—about the stockholders. So we have decided to elect a manager and to have him sit here with you and tell you what to do."

"Now, that will be fine. That's all right. You do that."

"The manager was elected and he occupied a desk next to the American and told him what to do. At the end of the first week the wages were doubled. The soviet manager presented a memorandum to the American manager."

"What's that?" said the American.

"This is my bill for my salary as manager," explained the Russian workman.

"What? I can't pay that. You see, I am paid by the stockholders in America. I am elected manager by them. You were elected manager by the workmen here in Petrograd. You must be paid by them."

"Oh, no!"

"Oh, yes!"

"The men struck at the order of the soviet manager."

"And the American closed up the office and returned to America."

"His problem had been solved without any disorder and with only the loss of an extra week's wages."

A Good Deed.

An officer of the medical department was paying his first visit to the front-line trenches. A corporal from Missouri was standing on the fire step engaged in the pleasant pastime of sniping at whatever there was to snipe at. The doctor wandered by an open loophole in the parapet.

"Crack!" came from a German sniper across No Man's Land.

"Whang—ploey!" The bullet came whizzing through the loophole and with a naughty thud splashed mud right on the doctor's new trench coat.

"Bang!" replied the corporal's rifle.

Deep silence reigned for ten seconds. Then the doctor picked himself up from his hands and knees and asked:

"Id you get him, corporal?"

"No," replied the corporal, "but if you'll just walk by that loophole again I'll sure get him next time."

Helping the Meat and Milk Supply

HOW AMERICAN HOG GROWERS MET WAR'S NEED

A Coming Herd of Porkers. They Produce Profits for Their Owner and Meat and Fats for His Country.

County Agents Aid Hog Raiser

Remarkable Growth of Business in Cotton States as Well as in Other Sections.

LARGE GAIN SEEN IN 1918

Department of Agriculture Advises Conservative Policy in Production Until High Prices of Feed Are Overcome.

There are 75,587,000 hogs in the United States, according to recent estimates of the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture. Of this number 34,776,000 are found in the six corn belt states of Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio, while 24,082,000 porkers are in the 15 Southern states and the remainder are distributed over the other 27 states of the Union. Under present conditions the South ranks second only to the corn belt as the leading pork producing section of the country. The remarkable fact that the growth of the hog business in the cotton states, as well as in many other sections of the country, where the development has been rapid during the last few years, is that the progress has been the direct result of the untiring efforts of county agents to popularize pork production.

Last year at least 2,485 counties had the service of an agricultural agent and in every locality where conditions were favorable for hog raising, these agents devoted their efforts to increasing the hog population to meet the increased demand for meat and fat brought about by the war.

County Agents' Work.

An example of the county agents' work to increase pork production is shown in 17 counties of southern Alabama. Not a single carload of hogs was shipped to market from these counties during 1912-1913. This was before the county agent got in his work. During the year ending April 1, 1918, these 17 counties marketed 2,332 carloads of hogs.

County agents in Mississippi have been getting results in their work to enlarge the swine industry. In 1914 the state exported 7,244 hogs, while in 1917 it sent 88,780 fat porkers to the market, an increase of 1,224 per cent. An increase of corn production was necessary to develop the hog supply and the county agents have been boosting this source of fattening feed. In 1909 North Carolina raised 34,000,000 bushels of corn, while in 1918 it harvested 64,365,000 bushels, which enabled the state to fatten 1,599,000 hogs. In Georgia approximately 29,475,000 bushels more corn were produced in 1918 than in 1909. Other Southern states have made similar records in increasing corn and pork yields.

Agent Is Versatile Helper.

While working to increase pork production, county agents have shown how pork could be produced economically; how, by fighting disease, particularly cholera, much loss could be prevented; and how, by proper selling, producers could dispose of their animals to the best advantage.

County agents in Pennsylvania, working through farm bureaus, have conducted numerous demonstrations in the feeding of hogs, in which they showed methods worked out by experiment for making cheap gains. These demonstrations taught many hog raisers how to save at least one-half of the grain feed bill in raising hogs by providing green feed throughout the growing season.

Save Wheat With Hogs.

In a certain section of Montana, nearly 50 acres of choice wheat were "beaten down" by a hailstorm just a few weeks before harvest. It looked like a total loss, but the county agent called a meeting of the farm bureau and told the members that the wheat could be saved if hogs could be secured to clean up the fields. The county agent was then authorized to go "hog hunting" and as a result he secured 2,300 head which were put to work salvaging the damaged wheat.

In many localities the limiting factor in hog raising is easy access to market. County agents are solving this question by inducing farmers to market hogs co-operatively, thus greatly reducing the expense to each farmer. In Utah recently more than 100 farmers supplied 18 carloads of hogs from sections 35 to 90 miles from a market shipping point. The hogs were brought in wagons and even automobiles to the shipping point and were there handled under the supervision of county agents. Similar work is being done by county agents or through farmers' organizations in many parts of the country.

THE HOG SITUATION

A conservative policy with respect to increasing the number of swine and the relative shortage and high price of feed are overcome is the recommendation of the United States department of agriculture, recently made in a statement on American agricultural production in 1918. In summarizing the hog situation the department reports that the number of swine fell from 65,630,000, the high point in 1911, to 53,933,000, the low point in 1914; and under the stimulus of war demand and a record corn crop in 1917 the number increased to 70,978,000 on January 1, 1918. Reports indicate that the number on farms on January 1, 1919, was 75,587,000, or an increase of 6.5 per cent.

The number of swine per capita of population in 1911 was 0.679 of one animal. On the same basis there should be 72,474,000 on farms in 1919.

Exports of pork products fell from 1,678,000,000 pounds in the fiscal year 1899 to 707,000,000 in 1910, and rose 1,692,000,000 in 1918. Although definite data are lacking, reports indicate a considerable reduction in the number of swine in Europe. A representative of the food administration reports a reduction of 25 per cent in the United Kingdom, 12½ per cent in Italy and 49 per cent in France. However, in estimating probable demand in Europe for American pork products certain factors must be borne in mind; namely, (1) large stocks now on hand in the United States; and (2) the rapidly with which the number of swine can be increased in Europe. Another factor of importance is the relatively large proportion of lard in the exports of this country, amounting to about 50 per cent of all pork products exported in the five-year period from 1910 to 1914, and about 200 per cent more than the total quantity of beef exported. Exports of lard amounted to $61,600,000 pounds in 1914, 476,000,000 pounds in 1915, 427,000,000 pounds in 1916, 445,000,000 pounds in 1917, and 532,000,000 in 1918. All reports emphasize the shortage of fats and oils in Europe at the present time. No shipments to Germany and Austria have been included in the exports of lard from the United States since 1914. However, prior to the war, Germany was our second largest customer, taking 146,000,000 pounds in 1914, or about 30 per cent of our total lard exports. The foreign demand for lard is likely to be heavy during the present year.

Four Medical Corps Officers

CITED FOR VALOR BY GENERAL O'RYAN

The Kingston physicians who were commissioned in the Medical Corps and assigned to the 27th Division have been cited by Major General O'Ryan for bravery. The portraits of three of them, together with the praise given them by Gen. O'Ryan, follow, as does also the two citations of Captain Smith:

Capt. William J. Cranston, M. C., Director of Ambulance Companies. For meritorious service in forward areas under heavy shell fire supervising the evacuation of wounded during operations against the Hindenburg line, France, Sept. 27-30, 1918, and during the operations against the Le Selle River and the Canal de la Sambre, Oct. 17-20, 1918.

Capt. William J. Coogan, M. C., 107th Infantry. For exceptional courage and devotion to duty in maintaining a first aid station at the extreme front under very heavy fire for more than twenty hours, caring for and supervising the evacuation of wounded. This in the battle of the Hindenburg line, France, Sept. 29, 1918.

Capt. Frederick Snyder, M. C., Field Hospital Co. No. 106. For meritorious service in operating at the main dressing station at Busigny, France, under enemy shellfire, during the battle of the Le Selle river, France, Oct. 17, 1918.

Capt. Martin DeForest Smith, M. C., Ambulance Co. 107. For exceptional courage, good judgment and determination in providing for and supervising under heavy enemy fire, the evacuation of wounded from Arbre Guernon to St. Souplet during the battle of Jone De Mer Ridge and St. Maurice River, France, Oct. 18-20, 1918.

No Creature Can Remain in Path of Horde and Live.

Naturalist, Himself Not Immune From Danger, Tells of Incidents He Saw as He Watched the Progress of the Insects.

I was dozing quietly in my hammock, glad to escape for an instant the insistent screaming of a cicada which seemed to have gone mad in the jungle heat, when a low rustling caught my ear—a sound of moving leaves without wind; the voice of a breeze in the midst of breathless heat, writes William Beebe, in the Atlantic Monthly. There was in it something sinister and foreboding. I leaped over the edge of my hammock, and saw coming toward me, in a broad, irregular front, a great army of ants, battalion after battalion of them flowing like a sea of living motes over twigs and leaves and stems.

I knew the danger and I half set up, prepared to roll out and walk to one side. Then I gauged my supporting strands; tested them until they vibrated and hummed, and lay back, watching, to see what would come about. I knew that no creature in the world could stay in the path of this horde and live. To kill an insect or a great bird would require only a few instants, and the death of a jaguar or a tapir would mean only a few more. Against this attack, claws, teeth, poison fangs would be idle weapons.

In the van fled a cloud of terrified insects—those gifted with flight to hinder their way far off, while the humbler ones went running headlong, their legs, four, six or a hundred, making the swiftest pace vouchsafed them. There were foolish folk who climbed up low ferns, achieving the swaying, topmost, fronds only to be trampled by the savage ants and brought down to instant death.

Even the winged ones were not immune, for if they hesitated a second, an ant would seize upon them, and, although carried into the air, would not loosen his grip, but cling to them, obstruct their flight, and perhaps bring them to earth in the heart of the jungle, where, cut off from their kind, the single combat would be waged to the death. From where I watched, I saw massacres innumerable; terrible battles in which some creature—a giant beside an ant—fought for his life, crushing to death scores of the enemy before giving up.

They were a merciless army and their number was countless, with host upon host following close on each other's heels. A horde of warriors found a bird in my game bag, and left of it hardly a feather. I wondered whether they would discover me, and they did, though I think it was more by accident than by intention. Nevertheless a half dozen ants appeared on the foot strands, nervously twiddling their antennae in my direction. Their appraisal was brief; with no more than a second's delay they started toward me. I waited until they were well on their way, then vigorously tugged the cords under their hazy eyes, sending all the scouts into midair and heading down among their fellows. So far as I know, this was a revolutionary maneuver in military tactics, comparable only to the explosion of a set mine.

But even so, when the last of this brigade had gone on their menacing, pitiless way, and the danger had passed to a new province, I could not help thinking of the certain, inexorable fate of a man who, unable to move from his hammock or to make any defense, should be thus exposed to their attack. There could be no help for him if but one of this great host should scent him out and carry the word back to the rank and file.

How A Man Picks A Wife

Some Conclusions That Have Been Reached by the Registrar at the Boston City Hall.

Edward W. McGlennen, registrar at the Boston city hall since 1900, who keeps record of that city's marriages, has found in his study of the subject of selection that association determines a man's choice in the selection of his wife, and when you have chosen your vocation you have automatically chosen your lifemate at the same time, observes the New York Herald.

Mr. McGlennen has found that tailors marry tailresses, longshoremen choose waitresses, many employees and clerks marry stenographers, while professional men more often pick their wives from the girls in society in which they move.

After eighteen years of daily observation of the way and habits of prospective homemakers, Mr. McGlennen has come to the conclusion that proximity is the chief determining factor in a man's choice of a wife.

In the long and voluminous marriage records the various averages of the different vocations show that chauffeurs and cooks are attracted by domestics, while tailors, dressmakers and milliners incline toward still closer relationship. Salvation Army men choose a Salvation Army lassie, the sea captain picks a good housekeeper and home body, while seamen generally fall in love, when ashore, with waitresses who serve their meals. Mr. McGlennen believes that good looks and good clothes are not such an important factor as generally believed—it is all a matter of environment. The telephone operator is a favorite with the soldier, also the nurse who ministers to him when wounded. Lunch-room proprietors more often marry their cashiers, and so it goes on.

What puzzles Mr. McGlennen, however, is why a mariner chose a dentist's assistant as life mate and how a street car conductor came to pick out an actress for his wife. These are exceptions to the general rule.

Lied In Attempt to Save Pet.

Determined efforts by ladies of high social position to smuggle pet dogs without license into England were recently described to a representative of the diseases of animals branch of the board of agriculture, London. It takes the combined intelligence of Scotland Yard and the customs officials to outmaneuver some dog lovers. Recently, on board a steamer crossing to England, a foreign princess was seated on a deck stool and a wind was blowing. A shrewd observer, whose duty it was to be inquisitive with his eyes, happened to catch sight for a moment of a little dog's wagging tail. On landing the lady, in reply to the usual question, said she had nothing to declare. "No dog, madame?" "Certainly not." "Then," said her questioner, "I must send for the female searcher to have your statement verified." "In that case," said the lady, "if you will allow me a couple of minutes by myself I'll produce my little dog." Which she did.

Making Themselves at Home.

I called at the offices of the International Y. M. C. A. Hospitality league, says the "Observer," in Fall Mall Gazette, and heard a delightful tribute to the United States bluejackets, of whom so many thousands have been in London recently. Quite a number of them were entertained at private homes—free to go when they pleased in the daytime, free to become members of the family when they had tired themselves with sightseeing. I overheard two would-be hostesses talking of their recent guests. "Mine, too, were delightful," one said. "So large and so perfect in their manner. But my dear, they had not the least notion of what war meant." "How so?" "Well, of course, I didn't grudge, but it was a little trying to one's nerves. Every morning they ate butter with their bacon and left half a spoonful of marmalade on their plates."

Carburetor Uses Kerosene.

An automatic carburetor has been developed in England for which automobile claims are made. The details of its construction are withheld, but its performance is said on good authority to be remarkable. During a demonstration test it was used on a two-cylinder, six-horsepower motorcycle. The start was made with the engine cold and the foot chamber half filled with gasoline. The change to kerosene, while under way, produced no noticeable difference in the performance of the engine. There was no knocking on grades, no smoke, no odor. The cylinders fired crisply, the pickup was quick, the firing regular at all times, and the power all that could be expected. It was even claimed that the carburetor, a gallon of the motorcycle fuel and distance of 100 miles was an official car.

BROOKS GIVES MID-DAY LUNCHEON

George G. Brooks, local manager for the C. D. Halsey Co., stock broker's branch office in this city in the Warren building on Fair street, entertained about forty of his friends and customers at a buffet luncheon this noon in the offices of the company. The men's luncheon was served in all detail to the guests under the direction of a caterer from the Eagle Hotel. In connection with this luncheon by Mr. Brooks is the remembrance of the 25th anniversary in business of the C. D. Halsey Co. Appropriate decorations dotted the walls of the offices, reminding every guest of the importance of the day. No expense was spared by Mr. Brooks in the proper entertainment of his guests and a full course buffet luncheon prepared them all for the rousing demonstration that graced the city this afternoon. Mr. Brooks proved himself capable as an entertainer and increased the esteem with which he was already held by his customers and friends, and all Kingstonsians.

In spite of the war, France maintained her young cattle, says the commission from America which investigated European agricultural conditions. Breeding stock supplies are apparently large enough to permit a "fairly rapid replacement after the war."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, April 1.—Owing to the absence of fuel in Russia Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, issued a decree that the temperature of all dwellings in Moscow should not exceed 46 degrees, said a wireless press dispatch from Berne today. It is pointed out, however, that the villa occupied by Lenin himself is equipped with a central heating system (a furnace) as well as great open fire places in every room and that its temperature is above seventy degrees.

BURGEVIN IS MARSHAL

Of Committees in Parade—To Escort Soldiers.
The parade and entertainment committee to welcome the soldiers met at the city hall Monday evening and elected George Burgevin marshal of the committees in the parade. The plans for the committees' line of march have been somewhat changed. Instead of escorting the soldiers from uptown, as originally planned, the committees will drop out of their position near the head of the line on the way back, somewhere near Albany avenue. They will stand at the sides of the street until the soldiers come along, when they will drop in line again and escort them to the armory.
